Diamonds idea about East-West axis versus South-North orientation.

- The environments are very similar in a East-West orientation that Indo-Euro had. This allowed for the domestication of plants to be traded over great distances.

- In a North-South axis, there are various independent domestication of plants. This shows us that the diffusion of ideas travels much slower in the Americas.

- Some factors such as mesoamerica's lack of wild mammals to domesticate also impacted the Americans.

- The barriers in Europe were easier to overcome with the help of the domestication of wild animals. Also the climate differences were another type of environmental barrier.

Indus Valley Dancing Girl

- She represented possibly a important figure in the society.
- The figure looked confident in her pose which can show that women are important in their role in society.
- If women truly did have an important role, it would seem that
